Achievements

Samyagana

I authored my first novel which spanned over 76,000 words when i was 23.

Self Learnings

With the limited time had, I self learned coding and built real world projects and beautiful websites and also on creative side, i did short movies, plays, stop motion animations etc.

About Me

I explored various creative pursuits, from writing to filmmaking, before finding my passion for web development. Born in a rural village, I completed my schooling in Sagar Tq and Shivamogga. After leaving my ECE studies, I started to write a book, obtained a film-making diploma, and published my first novel. A noble thought of creating non-fictitious world rather than creating just fictions, I self learned web development and started to build real-world projects and I am now ready to make an impact!
